

Dividing Lines for Elementary Schools in Hope

James H. Jones, Superintendent of Schools, announced today the new dividing lines for elementary schools for the year 1949-50. Dividing lines are as follows:

Paisley School—1st through 6th grades: All pupils from the first to the sixth grades, inclusive, residing north of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, west of and including North Hazel Street, will attend Paisley School. All transported students on Old 67 south of Hope, Washington Highway, the Hope Ground area, and DeAnn road will attend Paisley School.

Garland School—1st through 6th grades: All pupils from the first through the sixth grades, inclusive, residing south of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, west of and including South Main Street, will attend Garland School this year. All transported students in the Shover Springs area, Palmon road, Highway 29 south, and the Spring Hill Road will attend Garland School.

Brookwood School—1st through 6th grades: All pupils residing north of the Missouri Pacific Railroad and east of North Hazel Street, will attend Brookwood School. All transported students from Walnut Street east will report to Brookwood School. All transported students from the Piney Grove area, Providence, Rocky Mount, and Centerville area will attend Brookwood School.

Oglesby Junior High School—7th and 8th grades: All seventh and eighth grade pupils in Hope School District will attend Oglesby Junior High School.

Hope Senior High School—9th, 10th, 11th, and 12th grades: All ninth, tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grade students in the Hope School District will report to Hope High School.

Change in lines will probably have to be made in the first week of school in order to make a balanced load in all schools.

Other announcements pertaining to the opening of school and teaching personnel will be announced in a few days.

The Baldwin Construction Company, in its Who's Who of the Wallace convention and party. It has been gathered by ex-G-Men, and it fits perfectly into everything else that is known.

Counterattack names 26 key Wallace party stalwarts, who either admit Communist membership or have been identified by credible ex-Bolsheviks. It names 17 others who have been prominently associated with the party's work in this country, though there is no evidence they pay dues and carry membership cards.

Counterattack lists, as actual party members, Paul Robeson, Progressive Party co-chairman; former Congressman Jerry O'Connell, vice-chairman; Mrs. Charles Bass, co-chairman of Women for Wallace; Charles Collins and Arthur Osman of the national committee; Earl Robinson, song leader; Ralph Waldo Emerson, in charge of newscasts for the convention; two members of the Credentials Committee, three of the Platform Committee, five of the Platform Committee, three of the Nominations Committee.

It describes as "party liner," "high party liner," fellow-traveler or collaborator in party fronts and other activities, party functionaries as Albert J. Fitzgerald, chairman of the convention and co-chairman of the Progressive Party; Louis Adamic, convention secretary; C. B. Baldwin, party secretary and campaign manager; Walter H. Hays, party treasurer; Chairman Vito Marcantonio of the convention Rules Committee; Congressman Leo Isacson of the party's national committee; former Gov. Elmer A. Benson of Minnesota, chairman of the national committee.

Important convention committees named include Lee Pressman, general counsel of the CIO until he and Philip Murray parted company over communism and Henry Wallace, Hays, Bridges, West Coast labor leader, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, who dominate the CIO electrical workers and their non-party president, Fitzgerald; Mrs. Paul Robeson, wife of the singer; Hugh Bryson, who was secretary of the powerful Rules Committee; Pressman, chairman of the committee that wrote a platform that did not deviate in any way from the Communist.

Counterattack also mentions, among important convention speakers, the Red novelist Howard Fast "comrade of the comrades," who has joined in many Communist fronts.

And finally, among leading delegates and party members, Louis Adamic, who has not been identified as a dues-paying party member, but who for years has devoted his literary talent to defending

Many Brave Rain to Attend Ruth's Funeral

Valhalla, N. Y., Aug. 19 (UP)—Babe Ruth was laid to rest today in a wooded highland near the Hudson river during a drizzling rain.

A requiem mass at St. Patrick's Cathedral on New York's Fifth Avenue, attended by 3,500 friends and early arrivals, preceded the burial. Another 50,000 stood outside in the rain to see the start of the funeral procession.

There was a brief prayer at the graveside after the procession reached the Gates of Heaven cemetery here in suburban Westchester county. Then the mahogany casket, shrouded with heavy green ferns and topped by a single spray of American beauty roses, was laid in its last resting place.

The great and the small were at the Babe's funeral—a little Negro boy clutching a rosary, sat alone, weeping. A slim youth of 20, clad in army leftovers, choked back a sob. A group of 40 disabled veterans sat in a group. And baseball's hierarchy sat in the reserved seats along with statesmen, politicians, ball players, newspapermen and friends of the family.

The crowds came long before the 11 a. m. mass. An hour and half before that all 2,000 of the reserved seats in the cathedral were filled. The other 1,500 seats were reserved for officials and for the myriad of friends the Bambino made during his more than a quarter of a century as the nation's No. 1 sports hero.

The cathedral full, the overflow collected on the steps of the Gothic landmark. They clustered under umbrellas or held newspapers over their heads.

A hundred New York police manned the church area, and 200 more were along the route to the cemetery. But there was no call for them.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey came from Albany and Mayor William O'Dwyer headed the list of honorary pallbearers.

Also serving were Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler, American League president Will Harridge, National League President Ford Frick, Boston Mayor James Curley.

Pilot Purchases New Auto Through London Dealer and Actually Saves $567 on Deal

Lake Orion, Mich., Aug. 19 (AP)—Dick Wells, a commercial airplane pilot who discovered a quick way to get delivery on a new car, claimed today he saved $567 by buying it through a dealer in London—4,000 miles away.

Officials of the Studebaker Corp., South Bend, Ind., confirmed the story of the strange transaction.

But they denied that the 1948 model was sold for any less than he would have paid his regular dealer here.

Wells told this story: He placed his order for a new Studebaker about a year ago, and was waiting patiently for delivery when he stopped over in London while flying to Calcutta a few weeks ago.

While passing through the streets of the English capital, he saw the model he had ordered on display in a dealer's window. Its price was $1,820, the dealer said. Wells recalled the car he had ordered at home had a price tag of $2,387.

The dealer said Wells could have immediate delivery, and suggested, when the pilot asked about shipping arrangements, that he place the order in London and pick up the car at South Bend.

The American did so and received the car at the London dealer's price, he asserted.

However, Studebaker officials insisted the list price on Wells' model was $1,861, here and abroad. What the pilot must have paid, they added, was that amount with a foreign dealer's handling charge of $14 tacked on.

The $2,387 figure, they suggested, might have been the cost of a high-priced Studebaker model in this country.

While such transactions have been completed before a company spokesman went on, they are intended for diplomats and other Americans stationed abroad. They may buy their new cars in this country through foreign dealers, but do so with the intention of using them inside the limits of the United States.

He said the London dealer must have assumed Wells wanted to use the car in Great Britain.

The spokesman also declared he did not understand how Wells could have seen the car on display in London. Dealers there have had no models for that purpose in months, he said.

Pre-School Health Clinic for Students

Pre-school clinic will be held at the County Health Unit, Hempstead County Courthouse, Monday afternoon, August 23, from two until five o'clock, James H. Jones, Superintendent of Schools, announced today.

All parents who have children entering school for the first time should have their children examined and make any necessary corrections before they enter school. This should be done by the family physician or at the Health Unit under the supervision of the County Health Nurse. It is necessary for all children to be vaccinated before they enter school. All children who will be six years old on or before December 31, 1948, may enter at the opening of the fall term.

A clinic for Negro children will be held Monday afternoon, August 30, from two until five o'clock at the County Health Unit under the supervision of the County Health Nurse.

Opportunities of a Growing Boy Nowadays Are Much Better Than Few Years Ago

By ARTHUR EDSON (For Hal Boyle)

Washington—(AP)—My, my, the opportunities a growing boy has nowadays!

At various times I seriously considered such interesting careers as driving a delivery truck for Florid's hardware, being a switchman on the railroad, or beating a bass drum in a circus band.

I don't recall that at any time I ever thought much about working for the U. S. Government.

That may have been a mistake. For the government today, with more than 2,000,000 employees, is the world's greatest employer.

And a boy, or girl, can look forward to being anything from a community management specialist to a zone senior chief cost auditor.

Many of these jobs, of course, must be dreamed of being a community management specialist. Well, the Atomic Energy Commission needs three. They manage the communities at Hanford, Washington, Los Alamos, N. M., and Oak Ridge, Tenn.

The zone senior chief cost auditor? As you probably suspected, he works for the government's general accounting office.

Government is so complex and varied there is almost no end to the types of jobs which the growing boy can aim.

Like to inspect tanks? The Interstate Commerce Commission has a tank inspector. He peers at railroad tanks.

Murry Works for Truman Endorsement

By United Press

CIO President Philip Murray met with his top aides today to smooth the way for CIO endorsement of President Truman.

Murray figured to have the support of a majority of the CIO's vice presidents at the Washington party. But he counted on opposition from Albert Fitzgerald, head of the left-wing United Electrical Workers and a booster of Henry A. Wallace.

Informed sources said Murray and the vice presidents probably would do no more than recommend that the CIO come out for Mr. Truman. The actual endorsement, they said, will be made later by the CIO's 52-member executive board.

Fitzgerald and other left-wing CIO leaders have been trying to sell the name of the left-wing United Electrical Workers and a booster of Henry A. Wallace.

Near-Mutiny Aboard Vessel Is Related

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 19 —(AP)—A tale of near-mutiny and the thrilling rescue of a 26-year-old ship's master from turbulent seas unfolded when the American tanker Halcyon III reached this Atlantic port yesterday.

Federal investigators heard the tale when they boarded the tanker to check several reports of ill-feeling and fighting among members of the crew.

The Halcyon sailed from New York March 31 with nine replacements for ten men who failed to return to the crew list. Fighting broke out among the crewmen when the ship berthed at Liverpool early in May, and at Port of Spain, Trinidad, an investigation showed the disorders reached such a stage of unreasoning that four men were discharged.

None of the crew's ill-temper was directed against the ship's young master, Captain Charles E. Roll, investigators said.

It was while probing the trouble among the crew that investigators came upon the account of Captain Roll's remarkable rescue.

The ship's log and crew gave these details: Mounting seas swept the master overboard when the Halcyon was off Rio de Janeiro in mid-July. A cry was raised, and the masters father, Charles E. Roll, Sr., serving as chief mate, began to bring the 4,300-ton vessel to a stop.

Meanwhile, Captain Roll clung to a life ring that had been flung over the side. As the ship neared, the young captain swam toward the bow, and finally was able to grasp a line thrown to him from the tossing ship. He was then hauled aboard.

He was in the churning waters 17 minutes.

Shipping Commissioner C. W. Quimby said charges have been brought against one crewman for alleged misdemeanors aboard ship—Henry J. Lauwers, a steward, and Belgian national.

Lion Buys Out Sinclair Holdings in Arkansas Towns

New York, Aug. 19 —(AP)—The Sinclair Refining Company announced today the sale of its marketing facilities in 15 Arkansas cities and towns to the Lion Oil Company.

The Sinclair statement said the transaction was in line with a company policy of "withdrawing from marketing areas which we can not economically supply with products from our own refineries." The deal involved Sinclair's bulk plants, tributary retail outlets, installed retail equipment and leaseholds.

The properties are located in Helena, Clarksville, Cabot, Malvern, Hot Springs, Augusta, Harrisburg, Osceola, Rector, Camden, Booneville, Waldron, Piggott, Pocahontas and Hickory Ridge.

Many Brave

Ed Barrow, Ruth's boss with the New York Yankees, Yank Star Joe DiMaggio, Movie Actor William Bendix, and several veteran sports writers.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, said the requiem mass, with the Right Rev. Joseph F. Planchy as celebrant. There was no eulogy, just the service and then the funeral procession through upper Manhattan, through the Bronx, where the Babe played ball in Westchester county.

The Babe's body was viewed by more than 150,000 at Yankee stadium Tuesday and yesterday.

Babe's widow, Mrs. Clair Ruth, was in the first limousine after the service in the procession.

Mrs. Ruth had requested that both the funeral service and the procession be open to anyone who wished to attend.

Ruth's grave is in the Hudson river, ed. cemetery in Westchester Highlands of suburban Westchester county, near the village of Valhalla. His grave is just 150 feet from his close friend, Jimmy Walker, former mayor of New York.

It is shaded by an adjacent woods, the first grave to be used in the Ruth family plot bought several years ago.

The setting is totally apart from the tumult that was his life from the day he broke into baseball until his death from cancer of the throat last Monday night.

Even in the two days his body lay in state in the rotunda of mammoth Yankee Stadium, the milling multitude was with him. More than 150,000 persons passed by his mahogany casket which was placed only a short distance from the diamond where he hit so many home runs.

Yesterday, it was estimated that more than 100,000 persons paid their respects, passing his candle-lit bier at the rate of 100 a minute.

Frank Greenberg, now vice president of the Cleveland Indians, who succeeded Ruth as one of baseball's great homerun kings, passed by and said that he derived his inspiration to become a player as he sat in Yankee Stadium "watching the Babe."

Near the end of the procession was a 22-year-old blind youth, Leslie MacDonald of St. Joseph's school at Jersey City, N. J. He came with his mother, Mrs. Helen Poulos.

"I know everything there is to know about him," he said. "I was reading about him just a few hours ago in braille. It was an article in the Catholic Digest called 'Baseball's Grand Slam Man.' He would have come to see me if he had ever heard I was blind. He was just that way."

MacDonald was given a sunset rose from one of the funeral sprays, the only person in the entire procession who received or attempted to take any sort of a souvenir away.

Appropriately, the last to view Ruth's body in the stadium was a kid. He was 13-year-old Michael Corcoran, who came along 20 miles by bus and subway. He was startled when photographers and reporters closed in on him. He wanted to know what he had done. Told that he had been the last person to see Ruth in Yankee Stadium he replied:

"I think that's the greatest honor in the world. And to think it had come to me."

NEW YORK COTTON

New York, Aug. 19 —(AP)—Cotton futures were irregular in moderately active dealings today. Prices were lower in early trading, partly influenced by a break in grain but later recovered partially on short covering and trade buying.

There was a good demand for nearby months with both mills and merchants buying futures as protection against raw cotton needs later in the season.

Cotton futures advanced into new high ground in late trading on more aggressive covering by locals and mill buying.

Futures closed 25 to 60 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Chicago, Aug. 19 —(AP)—Grains made a recovery in late dealings on the board of trade today, reducing or completely canceling early losses. The rally was led by September corn, while spurted a few cents above the previous close on active short covering.

Despite the actions of September corn, the bulk of the market had a weak undertone. July wheat broke more than 7 cents at one time to a new seasonal low and was not able to get back much of the lost ground. Losses in other wheat contracts were limited to fractions.

An early sell-off sent all hard and soybean, as well as December and May corn contracts, to new seasonal lows. The new crop corn deliveries did not follow the late upturn in the September month. Oats gave a better account of themselves than other grains, making small gains most of the day.

Wheat closed 6 cents lower at 1-1-8 higher, September $2.21 1-2-2-38, corn was 58 — lower 2 7-8 higher, September $1.04 — 51 64 3-4, oats were 1-8 — 5-4 higher, September 72 5-8 — 73, rye was 1-1-2 lower, December $1.70 12, and soybeans were 1-2 to 1 cent higher, November $2.53.

Spot wheat moved higher with the futures trade today, basis steady; receipts 30 cars. Corn was five to 10 cents lower; basis five to seven cents down; bookings 91,000 bushels receipts 164 cars. Oats were unchanged to a cent lower; basis unchanged to a cent; bookings 4,000 bushels; shipping sales 10,000 bushels receipts 33 cars. No soybeans were received.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

New Orleans, Aug. 19 —(AP)—Cotton futures declined in early trading here today but rallied in later dealings to close steady 30 cents to 30 cents a bale higher.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Aug. 19 —(AP)—Advancing steel stocks gave a tour of life to a drowsy market today. While the main body of stocks nodded along in a fractional price range, some steels managed to move up a point or more.

Volume dropped again, with the day's total in the neighborhood of 550,000 shares.

U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and Youngstown sheet all advanced. Others ahead included Chrysler, Goodyear, Boeing, Du Pont, Johnsonville, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, and Standard Oil (N.J.).

On the losing side were Goodrich, International Harvester, Cero De Pasco, Philip Morris, and Gulf Oil.

Bonds were steady.

Louisiana Hospital Accused of Selling Laundry Service

Jackson, La., Aug. 19 —(AP)—Charges ranging from neglect to neglect to the use of the hospital laundry for cleaning Jackson residents' clothes have been leveled at officials of Louisiana State hospital here.

A special legislative committee meeting here yesterday was told that:

A ward worker had seen a patient "only yesterday" with worms in a sore on his leg and that three calls for a doctor were unavailing.

Tuberculosis patients go as long as six weeks without seeing a doctor.

Negro patients on the hospital's farm colony are worked hard and frequently whipped.

There is "considerable abuse" of laundry privileges and that Jackson townspeople are having their clothes done there.

Acy Strahan, the ward worker, testified that he had seen the infected leg and that he had seen similar cases in the past. He said, however, that a doctor finally did come and bandage the open sore. His statements were backed up by R. E. Tucker, a ward supervisor.

Rep. Mike Ohlsen of Concordia Parish, the committee chairman, said another meeting will be held next Wednesday to hear more witnesses. He said the group definitely will ask for more money for operating expenses.

People often ask me for a diet for diabetes. To supply any such thing would be dangerous, because no two people with the disease need or should have exactly the same food and management.
Diabetes is a disease which stems from the failure of certain cells in the pancreas, a gland inside the abdomen. When normal, these cells prepare a substance which is emptied into the blood stream and regulates the use of sugar.
If diabetes, something goes wrong and not enough material is prepared by these pancreatic cells. Sugar is no longer burned up satisfactorily, and some of it spills over through the kidneys and is eliminated in the urine.
The important object of treatment is to prevent the loss of sugar in the urine. Sometimes this less can be prevented merely by adjusting the diet, especially by reducing sweets and starches or carbohydrates.
But it is often impossible to eliminate the urine sugar by adjusting the diet alone. In such cases, enough insulin has to be used to keep the urine free of fairly tales while the younger people prepared the chicken dinner. There was also salad, cookies and cakes. After the lunch, the group joined together in singing. The group then enjoyed an hour of games.

After leaving for home they stopped at the pottery, then for ice cream.
In September meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Henry Black and the October meeting at the home of Mrs. Edd Adams.

Talent got up... paced silently. Bindle's eyes followed him sullenly. There was scarcely a sound of breathing in the room. The tension became almost unbearable before Talent halted in front of Bindle.
"You haven't anything to say to that, have you?" Talent said. "All out of answers, George?"
Bindle's head snapped back.
"Surprised?" Talent went on quietly. "Yes, this is just about the end for George Bandello. Chicago lost track of you, George, but now Joe Slepp and Mrs. Sterling are charged up against you."
The tormented man's fingers clutched the arms of the chair and his chin dropped low. His eyes stole a side glance from under the brim of his hat toward the tall open window, the still barely two feet above the floor. No one barred the way.
In that instant of breathlessness after Talent stopped speaking, the man who had slipped from the police to 18 years of freedom by swimming under water in Chicago's harbor, again staggered at their effort to take him. Springing from his chair in a crouched position, he leapt for the open window. But he did not know that before Miriam Sterling had been buried a week, because they Cowder had demanded it if she was to remain in the house as cook, a grille of heavy iron bars, obscured from within because of the dupes, had been firmly anchored in the masonry outside the window.
Bandello hit the barrier with crunching force and rebounded into the room. Miraculously he retained his balance, still on his feet. When he pivoted to face his astonished audience, he held a snatching automatic he had slipped from under his left armpit.
From across the room, Detective Ripley's heavy service revolver spoke twice. The first bullet shattered an elbow and Bandello's gun dropped to the floor. Because he lunged at the wrong moment, the second bullet bored into his chest, over the right lung, and he tumbled heavily.

Lieutenant Talent's reaction was spontaneous, displaying a burst of energy he rarely revealed. His clipped directions to Ripley arrested the momentary atmosphere of panic.
"Call the ambulance, Gus," Talent said. "We want to pull him through. He has a lot to answer for."
As Ripley sped to the telephone, Talent's long legs strode quickly across the room. Talent beckoned Trapgood to follow him.
Talent bent low over the prostrate form of George Bandello, Trapgood on one knee beside him. The wounded man's breathing grew tortured. His eyes swam to a focus fixed pitiously on the face above him.
"You're at the end of the long trail, George," Talent said. "Don't you want to square yourself... get it all off your mind?"
Bandello's lips worked to form words, his eyelids fought against their own weight. His eyes melted into a mist. "I know when I'm licked," he said weakly. After a gasping pause, he added, "You had it right, Lieut... she went for her gun... it was me or... me or her... I didn't want to... The voice was enwrapped by a thick, incoherent sputter.
As Talent and Trapgood got up, Isabel Wilson pushed impetuously between them. She had towels over one arm. She knelt beside the stricken man. Her fingers went to work on his tie... his

To Send Men to Observe Truce in Palestine

Washington, Aug. 18 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall said today the United States, France and Belgium will send 300 men from their armed forces to serve as truce observers in Palestine.

Marshall told a news conference the U. S. will supply 125 enlisted men, some of whom will come from the U. S. warships in the Mediterranean. France will provide an equal number and Belgium 50.

Count Folke Bernadotte, the United Nations mediator in Palestine requested the new group. Marshall said Bernadotte had asked for a substantially larger force but was turned down by the U. S., which referred the request to the U. N. Security Council. The council has yet to act on it.

Marshall expressed hope that American relief agencies will respond to an appeal from Bernadotte for emergency aid for an estimated 327,000 Arab and Jewish

People who try to treat themselves for diabetes are taking a grave risk. It is impossible to know whether the disease is being controlled or not without careful testing.

Although victims of diabetes should always obtain expert medical care, they may learn more about their disease from the monthly magazine, "ADA Forecast," published by the American Diabetes Association, One Nevins Street, Brooklyn 17, N.Y.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions in his column.

QUESTION: What can be done for a noise in the ear, following a cold?

ANSWER: Probably the cold caused some difficulty, either in the middle portion of the ear or in the tube leading from the nose to the ear. There is perhaps some infection remaining. Whatever the cause, it would be advisable to consult an ear specialist who can advise exactly what is best to do.

A young man who is contemplating matrimony asks if I will tip him off to the "general principles of choosing the right girl for a wife."

Well, son, that's a hard task, for there are no universal rules for picking out a wife. They are mostly exceptions. For what his one man's fancy in women, leaves another man cold. And there you are. However, when you go a-courting, it will save you much grief and money if you will bear certain basic facts in mind.

Before you let any girl pull the wool over your eyes take a good, long, appraising look at her and see if she looks as if she could do a good hard day's washing, or if she would swoon at the sight of a cooking stove. When men marry, they seldom give their brides health any consideration, yet the success of every marriage depends just as much upon whether their wives are doctors' bills or huskies as it does upon anything else.

Also the happiness, for no one who is frail and weak and nervous can be a very cheery companion. Of course, no one is immune to ill health. Even the strongest can be smitten down by disease, and when that happens it is the husband's bounden duty to show his wife added affection and sympathy and do everything possible to ease her sufferings.

The next thing to look out for before you pop the question is whether Angel Face is bossy or not. That takes the astuteness of the FBI, because every girl in pur-cual of a husband acts as meek as Mary's little lamb until she gets him. So be warned in time, and if you find that you are doing just the things that Mary wants to do, and that she is supervising your diet and picking out your neck-tie, flee for your life.

Don't marry any girl until you are sure that you are congenial—like the same kind of pie, and read the same Who-dun-it stories, and that you never run out of talk when you are together. The greatest enemy of domesticity is boredom. Lack of congeniality is at the bottom of practically every divorce. So when you find out that you have talked out to Arabella and in her face, put on your hat and beat it.

Ascertain before you take that fatal trip to the altar whether you will be committing bigamy and marrying Mama when you marry her daughter. If Mama is going to live with you and run the house and tell you where to get on and off, and if your fiancée has already begun to say even before the wedding that "Mother says we should do so and so," prepare yourself for the worst. You will never be anything but a stooge in your own home.

And, of course, it is always the part of wisdom for a man to observe before the wedding how a girl reacts to money. If she thinks it is something to throw at the birds, if she dresses beyond her means, if she always insists on going to the most expensive night clubs and places of amusement, beware. She will make the kind of a wife who is never satisfied and who keeps her husband's nose to the grindstone until she works him to death.
These are some of the dangers of marriage, son, and the wise guy looks before he leaps.

Dixiecrat Candidates to Be Guests at Luncheon

Little Rock, Aug. 19 (AP)—The Dixiecrat national candidates will be guests at a luncheon at Bear Creek near Mariana next Wednesday.

The candidates are Govs. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Fielding Wright of Mississippi, who seek the presidency and vice presidency on the States Rights Democratic ticket.
The luncheon will be on the day before a State Righters rally at Mariana, when Thurmond and Wright will speak.
John L. Dagggett, Mariana, member of the States Righters executive committee, announced plans for the luncheon.

Aluminum Material Shortage Brings Hug Layoff

Alcoa, Tenn., Aug. 13 (AP)—Approximately 500 employees have been laid off within the past month at the Aluminum Company of America plants because of a metal shortage, company officials reported today.

"The pig metal situation continues to be critical with us," said W. W. Wright, works manager of the fabricating division.

"As a result we had to lay off approximately 500 men. No immediate hope for improvement can be expected until more pig aluminum is available," he said.

Truman Claims Loyal Program Is Success

Washington, Aug. 19 — (AP) — The House Un-American Activities committee today ordered three former New Deal lawyers to appear for questioning tomorrow in its Communist spy ring investigation. They are: Nathan Witt, Lee Pressman and John Abt.

The committee also said that Alger Hiss, former State department official accused of being part of a pre-war Red underground in Washington, has refused to submit to this time to a lie detector test. Hiss has denied time and again under oath that he ever was a Communist. He now heads the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

These developments came as President Truman lashed out at the committee. He accused the group of infringing the Bill of Rights in its inquiry into alleged communism within the government.

Mr. Truman made his statement at a news conference as he took issue with criticism of his administration stemming from the congressional investigation.

The president repeated his previous claim that Senate and House committee hearings have produced no information not already in the possession of the FBI and presented to a federal grand jury.

He also asserted that the government's loyalty review program is a complete success.

The president hadly accused the House Un-American Activities Committee of infringing the bill of rights in its inquiry into alleged communism within the government.

He said the only two people whose names have been brought into the inquiry as suspected Communists already were under indictment before the hearing started.

Mr. Truman said there is a difference between the confidential files of federal employees and their employment records. He made clear once again that the confidential files will not be made available to congressional committees.

The president's reference was to efforts of Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) and other GOP leaders to obtain confidential files of government employees suspected of disloyalty. Mr. Truman has directed executive departments to withhold such records from the committees.

Mr. Truman made his comment when a reporter asked whether there has been any change in his dispute with Ferguson, chairman of a Senate Investigating Committee.

The necessary records, Mr. Truman said, always have been available. It was learned from another source that Whittaker Chambers has not been a witness before a federal grand jury in New York City investigating espionage.

Chambers has acknowledged to the House committee that he was a Communist from 1924-1937 and worked with a Communist underground in Washington.

The Justice Department has declined to comment on this in any way, repeating that it will not discuss proceedings still in progress before a grand jury.

Mr. Truman said he could say categorically that the government's loyalty program has been a success.

He added that the Justice Department has been at work for some time on a proposed new loyalty statute.

He said it was a very difficult thing to get a statute that does not infringe on the bill of rights which is a cornerstone of American freedom.

He said sharply that he does not want any Gestapo law that does infringe on the bill of rights. "Do you consider that the House hearings have infringed on the bill of rights?" a reporter asked.

The president replied yes, that he does.

The congressional spy investigators are going ahead with their search for new evidence. They said they had lined up three new witnesses for secret testimony before the House committee.

What they are after primarily at this point is not direct testimony about the operations of a Communist underground in Washington before and during the war.

They are concentrating instead on what Rep. Nixon (R-Calif.) calls "the truth on the falsity" of the controversy involving Alger Hiss and Whittaker Chambers.

This is a prelude to public hearings, set for next Wednesday, at which Hiss and Chambers will be heard.

Arriving here by train from New York, where he put in some spare work hours, Nixon told reporters late yesterday that three former government officials have been put under subpoena. He said they are New Yorkers who will be brought here for questioning before the end of the week.

He said they are people who are "supposed to know" both Hiss and Chambers.

Hiss and Chambers are two key figures in the hearings the House Un-American activities committee has been holding.

Chambers now is an editor of Time Magazine. He has testified that he was a Communist from 1924 to 1937 and during part of that period knew Hiss as a member of an "elite" Communist underground organization among government officials.

Hiss has denied ever and over that he ever was a Communist official who now heads the Carnegie Endowment for international peace.

Up until Tuesday night, Hiss also had said he didn't know Chambers, his accuser.

But when members of the House committee brought the two men face to face in a New York hotel room Tuesday, Hiss identified Chambers as a man he had known in 1934 and 1935 as a "close" writer named George Crozier. He said he had sabbled his Washington apartment to Crozier.

He said sharply that he does not want any Gestapo law that does infringe on the bill of rights. "Do you consider that the House hearings have infringed on the bill of rights?" a reporter asked.

Laney Support to Democratic Nominee

Little Rock, Aug. 19 — (AP) — Governor Laney said today he will support "whoever is chosen the Democratic nominee for governor."

Without naming either Sidney McMath or Jack Holt, the governor took cognizance of the controversy over the Aug. 10 primary election and said he does not believe anything can be gained by continued controversy.

Asked if it was not pretty well settled that McMath is the nominee, Laney, who did not seek reelection, said:

"There is some controversy. It is not my matter to settle, and I am willing to let it be settled by proper authorities."

He added, however, "I have always said that the people would select a candidate of their choice and I take it that they have."

Asked if his remarks meant that he would not support an independent or a Disceat candidate for governor, he said:

"I never have and don't see any reason to change now."

The governor emphasized, however, that his party loyalty extended only to the state Democratic party. "I have said I will not support Truman and I won't support Dewey," he said, "and that doesn't mean that I'm committed to anyone else yet."

The governor expressed hope that the controversy over the governor's race would be "ironed out soon." He said that he had not participated in the race in any way and would not take part "unless an opportunity presents itself for me to make some contribution to the settlement of the difficulty and to get something done for the state of Arkansas."

Governor Laney explained that he expected to be out of the state when Governor Strom Thurmond and Fielding Wright, Disceat candidates for president and vice president, speak at Marianna next week.

He declined to predict what the Arkansas Democratic convention might do with respect to a proposal that the Arkansas Democratic presidential electors be pledged to Thurmond and Wright. He indicated the convention action might have a great deal of

Communism's Freedom Threat
So Well as Teacher Incident

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Few things could so dramatically dramatize communism's threat to security of state and freedom of individual as the amazing case of Mrs. Olga Stepanovna Kosenkina, the Russian school teacher who escaped from the Soviet consulate in New York by leaping from a third story window.

And now Sweden, of all countries has a "Kosenkina" case! As for America, we had seen small countries, communized by force, we had seen fearful purges in Red slave-states. We had the latest day after day in the Soviet's monstrous "myth" (not as the vote was hurled into the United Nations machinery. We had seen a foreign consulate snap its fingers at the prerogatives of our sovereignty. The present country of bolshevism has had the efficiency of having a hand in "Hilping Mrs. Kosenkina, and Kosenkina who also have been known to return to Russia, Moscow "demands" that these unfortunate be turned over to the Soviet.

Mention the "Swedish Kosenkina" case has broken and is causing a sensation throughout that country. Lydia Makarova, 17-year-old Russian girl who has been living in Sweden four years, claims to return to her native country despite repeated demands of the Russian embassy that she do so.

Just why Moscow wants to get hold of the girl is a mystery. She says she fled to Sweden in 1944 after her mother died in Leningrad. She adds that she was considered a national prodigy and has been continuing piano study in Stockholm.

Sweden, a Swedish foreign office spokesman states that the Soviet embassy has asked repeatedly that the girl be sent back to Russia. He says the foreign office refused the requests and warned the embassy to "leave the girl alone." As in the American case, the Russians claimed that the young woman was being "kept prisoner."

Dewey to Pledge Farm
Price Support

By JACK BELL

Washington, Aug. 19 — (UP)—A Democratic farm aide challenge appeared today to be answered by a campaign pledge from Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to back a strong price support program.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky put on the sign posts for Democratic farm belt strategy with his assertion at Springfield, Ill., that farmers can choose in November between high prices under the Democrats or low prices under the Republicans.

Gov. Earl Warren of California had a chance if he chose to take it to answer his vice presidential opponent on the same Illinois State fair platform today.

But the major Republican effort on agricultural policy is expected to come from Dewey on the GOP presidential nominee's protected crop-country campaign tour.

Under the changes in mind, Dewey is expected to outline a program under which the government would continue to put a loan floor under farm prices.

Loans on most major crops now are made at 80 per cent of parity, a formula aimed at keeping farm prices in line with the prices of things the growers buy.

Congress continued the present price support program for a year, but voted to put into effect on Jan. 1, 1950, a long range proposal under which loan floors would be slightly lower on field crops but a little higher on livestock and dairy products.

Dewey is expected to indicate any changes he may have in mind for this long-range program.

His party formula doesn't take into account the cost of hired farm labor, a point that Dewey said in Corvallis, Ore., last May must be given "consideration." Experts said the labor cost factor would raise the price support level in most years.

During his Oregon campaign, Dewey outlined his ideas on general farm legislation.

He said essential points include soil conservation, protection to best productive acreage, development of mineral agriculture and by-products, a strong parity price support program, better handling of the surplus, Department of Western resources and stabilization of the wool and sugar beet markets in favor of "substantial production."

Dewey criticized the administration for "letting farm legislation to excrement in dealing with farmers. He said he regarded "unfair attacks on farm cooperatives."

Barkley had accused the Republicans of trying to scuttle the co-ops by cutting off their tax exemptions. He credited President Truman with stalling this move.

The Kentucky senator's talk apparently was only the first of an intensive drive the Democrats plan in the farm belt, which went Republican in his sweep in the 1946 Congressional elections.

Dewey's strategists evidently are counting on heavy support for him in rural areas to offset the bid President Truman has made for labor support with his call for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act.

In this connection, the Democratic National Committee announced today that Maurice J. Tobin, Mr. Truman's new Secretary of Labor, will share the speaker's platform at a Labor Day Rally in Akron with AP President William Green.

Mr. Truman will launch his own campaign that day with a major address in Detroit and five other speeches in Michigan.

Democratic National Chairman J. Howard McGrath said after a conference with the president yesterday that Mr. Truman will be on the road most of the time after mid-September. He added that while Mr. Truman will not visit every state he will go into every section of the country, including the south.

Greeks Launch
Assault on Red Positions

Athens, Aug. 18 — (UP)—A general staff spokesman said today the Greek army has launched a frontal assault on the main Grammos mountain ridges, last major stronghold of Communist leader Markos Vamvakis.

The foreign ministry announced it had sent a cable to Trygve Lie, United Nations secretary general, asking that Albania be required to close her borders to fleeing Greeks and intern all inside her country.

THE SCOUTING TRAIL

Boy Scouts of Nevada scout district will hold a swim meet at the Hope Municipal pool, at Fair park, Friday evening Aug. 20. Scout will swim for fun from 6 to 7 p.m. and then on into the swimming and are invited. It is believed that a good number of visitors from El Paso and Prescott will be on hand to see the swimming events and to take a good swim themselves.

The Soviet embassy started two years ago to try to persuade her to return to Russia. The embassy claimed to have a letter from her father but she says that when she finally saw the representative it was written by a secretary of the embassy.

Well now the significance of this "Swedish Kosenkina" case lies in the fact that Kosenkina, like the American Kosenkina, is a national prodigy and has been living in Sweden four years.

However, the Swedish foreign office refused the requests and warned the embassy to "leave the girl alone." As in the American case, the Russians claimed that the young woman was being "kept prisoner."

Hospital authorities said his heart was not functioning at birth.

Dr. Frank R. Fabiani administered an inter-cardiac injection of adrenalin. The heart started beating and the boy was placed in an incubator.

Yesterday the infant became unconscious. Dr. Fabiani, who remained with the baby all night, said the heart stopped early today and another injection was given. Twenty-five minutes later it stopped again and failed to respond to a third injection.

Royal Peach Dessert

Broadcast: August 21, 1948

1 1/2 cup hot milk
1 cup canned, sliced peaches
1/4 cup marshmallows, 6 times sliced strips cut in small pieces

1/2 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup plain cake

Chill milk until icy cold. Drain peaches; save juice. Save 1/4 cup peach syrup; discard remaining; peaches, mix with dry marshmallows and add peaches; peaches, let stand. Add water to remaining peach juice to make 1/2 cup; heat to boiling. Stir in gelatin and salt. Cool to room temperature; add to marshmallow-fruit mixture. Chill until syrupy. Oil or rinse with cold water a 1 1/2-pint mold. Line mold with peach slices and some of cake. Whip chilled milk with cold rotary beater, or electric beater at high speed, until stiff. Fold into gelatin mixture along with diced cake. Put into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold to serve. Makes 4 servings.

*Orange gelatin also can be used.

New York, Aug. 17 — The mis-called labor movement of this period in American history is fundamentally vicious and destructive of the freedom which the American Constitution tries to provide.

This union government is a European system imposed on Americans by immigrants who became naturalized in the legal sense and so acquired citizenship but never entirely ceased to be Europeans and never entirely became Americans. To be sure, it was adopted and vigorously promoted by many native Americans such as John L. Lewis and similar selfish opportunists. They played unionism as a political game — a violent and often fatal game, like jousting — but still a game inferior to the higher and finer business of public government. But it has been imposed on the millions of Americans both within and outside the unions, all subject to their brutal power, by a few men of European birth.

Gompers, Murray, Quill, Dubinsky, Hillman and Dan Tobin have been the chief architects of this subjects, most of them unwilling victims of the raids of union dragons — and the bosses of many of the sailors' and painters' and clerical workers' unions all came from the water.

At this writing, about one-fourth of the numerical strength of the American union movement is ruled by immigrants. But, worse, the prevailing concept of the rights and duties of men, which is shared even by the most strident native Americans, such as Dave Beck, Seattle, is a foreign idea absolutely at war with American freedom. Those American natives, in their enthusiasm for the chase, have forgotten what the status of the citizen should be under freedom and popular government.

Roosevelt, of course, knew the wickedness of this unionism, but it was his own political subsidiary and a great money-maker for his immediate proteges such as Lewis and Tobin. He gave these fellows, as union bosses, power over men which no other officer of any public or private organization has ever enjoyed outside the armed services of the nation itself. They could hit a telephone in Washington and turn out the cops by the hundreds or thousands in San Francisco, absolutely without risk of punishment. They live like kings on royal purses taken from their subjects. Whenever they want money for any personal vanity or special luxury they have only to direct some flunkies to put through the appropriation or grant to the crown in legal guise.

It would be bad enough that Americans were permitted to sign away their civil rights and human freedom in the reputable and voluntary, noncommittal and unwilling, have lost an important degree of their freedom.

More fatigue, the weariness of righteous men, has stilled the protest against the basic badness of "collective bargaining." This evil thing which the national labor Senator Robert Wagner, an immigrant from Germany, the home of social regimentation on the continent, whose native predilections are confirmed by life among the huddled immigrants in the city of New York. By this anti-American device, the best workmen in America were reduced to equality with the worst. Time spent on a job was the sole measure of pay. The quality or amount of work could not be considered.

By "collective bargaining" the union bosses were allowed to set up absolute monopolies of labor. In the Northwest, Dave Beck, of the Teamsters' Union, Dan Tobin, of the exiled California beer men, and the Oregon in a jurisdictional fight with the brew workers. Not even the government of the United States itself or the respective states concerned had the right to do this. But Beck had that power under "collective bargaining."

105,000 Expected at Pro Grid Game Tonight

Chicago, Aug. 19 — (UPI)—Per-spring football fans flocked into Chicago today as the Chicago Cardinals and the college all-stars ran through final drills for their game Friday night.

A capacity crowd of 105,000 was expected for the 13th annual renewal of the all-star classic.

Gloom settled over both training camps, as injuries sidelined key men.

The all-star captain, Chalmers (Bump) Elliott, halfback from Michigan, seemed almost certain to be out of the lineup. Elliott, a star in Coach Frank Leahy's squad, was limping with a charley horse, and Bob Livingston, Leahy's starting left halfback, also from Notre Dame, suffered an ankle injury.

But injuries still plagued him. Notre Dame star Johnny Lujack was limping with a charley horse, and Bob Livingston, Leahy's starting left halfback, also from Notre Dame, suffered an ankle injury. At the Cardinal camp at Waukegan, Wis., Coach Jimmy Conzelmann was injured, and center Bill Mumphrey, who was out of the lineup for Friday night, and the status of several of his teammates was in doubt.

tively petty amount of money which he claimed for his pension fund. The miners collectively sacrificed half a billion dollars in wages to the tune of a paltry wine set up by Lewis for a few millions for the pension fund. If they could sacrifice so vast a sum of money in a strike they could have set up a tiny pension fund without missing the tiny penny. But that was not the point. The purpose of the strike was to demonstrate again the power that Roosevelt handed to Lewis in the guise of one of "labor's gains."

There is never been a slightest pretense by Lewis that the miners were consulted in any of these strike issues. Admittedly they are not consulted. Lewis votes for about two-thirds of the so-called districts of the miners which are controlled as receiver and dictator, having deposited their elected representatives. And this is done under law as a benefit conferred on the worker through "collective bargaining."

Granted, for the sake of argument, that "collective bargaining" has some narrow virtue, for the extension of the authority of unions over citizens has been a dramatic defeat of liberty and personality. David Dubinsky's union of garment workers is far more paternalistic than Henry Ford ever was. Dubinsky long ago threw out the "Communists" without trial. The only reason was that they were a challenge and a bother. During the last presidential campaign, Dubinsky's union, as well as Hillman's and Harry Bridges' Union of West Coast Longshoremen, firmly supported Roosevelt, who was abhorrent to the most intelligent American citizens. All three of these bosses were born in foreign lands. Dubinsky's and Hillman's unions commanded ostensibly free native American citizens to attend political rallies in favor of New Deal candidates, or worse under penalty of fine. And Dubinsky's union boasted of its allocation of money to a fund for "underground work" in Europe during the war. This was a system of espionage operated without any public supervision and certainly without any justification in collective bargaining.

The union movement has completely dishonored itself. It doesn't even produce respectable personalities in the commanding jobs. The proportion of underworld criminals and the number of help-less citizens whom they bossed and the amounts which they stole have been a historic shame. Unionism will stagger along but it will fall down and die because it is fundamentally bad and hostile to freedom and decency.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

(For Hugh Fullerton, Jr.)

Philadelphia, Aug. 19 — (UP)—Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League isn't talking about the rival All America Conference and a strongly-voiced "no comment" remains his routine reply to all queries about the AAC. But Bell feels better about the season just ahead than he has about any since All America started operations three years ago. Pre-season advance ticket sales indicate the NFL will have its greatest year in history, but the past two haven't been what you'd call bad.

Jonas Ingram, AAC commissioner, hasn't been a bargaining Bell with challenges for interleague games as he did last year. And he figures Ingram is pretty busy keeping his league out of the red. The Green Bay Packers already have a complete sell-out for season tickets. Every seat from goal line to goal line is gone. And the outlook is almost that good all around the league. Bell figures the National League will improve on last year's all-time attendance mark of 1,337,000. Bell might well come up with this theme song:

Let Ingram heckle —
We'll take the sheikle.
Keep Those Bottles Quiet
Mrs. Neil Ashburn, mother of the Philadelphia Phillies' rookie sensation, Richie Ashburn, rates some consideration as "housewife of the year," if there is such a thing. She and her husband moved to Philadelphia to be near their son during the season and took a house in suburban Cynwyd. Richie moved in with them and so did Carl Simpson, Bob Roberts and Charlie Bicknell, three other Phillies. The milkman delivers 10 quarts a day.

Up and Up
The word around the ivy-draped institutions of higher learning in the East is that football fraternities are on the upgrade. From will field another powerhouse, Lou Little is well stocked at Columbia and Harvard and Yale are highly rated. But the outfit to watch is Dartmouth, where Russ McLaughrey is said to be weaving one of his strongest combinations.

Dodgers Now Appear Team to Beat

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

A new found strength on the mound is making the Brooklyn Dodgers the team to beat in the National League.

Burt Shotton's Brooks shut out the Philadelphia Phillies last night 1-0, to climb within one game of the slipping Boston Braves. The Braves were beaten by the Giants in New York 8-2.

Rex Barney for the Brooks gave the best performance of his major league career. He permitted only one hit, a fifth inning single by Third Baseman Ralph Cabellero.

Brookie Robin Roberts, the Phil's best bonus highlander, made an error and had a wild pitch to allow Brooklyn's lone run in the first.

Marvin Rackley singled and moved to second on an infield out. Roberts threw into centerfield and Rackley raced to third. With Pee Wee Reese at bat, Roberts uncorked a wild pitch and Rackley scored.

The third place St. Louis Cardinals also took advantage of Boston's defeat, coming from behind to edge the Cincinnati Reds in St. Louis, 4-3. The Cards now are only two and a half games off the pace.

Trailing 3-2 in the last of the ninth, the Cards quickly tied the score when Nippy Jones tripled. Ralph Lapointe ran for Jones and Jones scored.

Psychiatrist to Examine 3 Small Boys

New Albany, Ind., Aug. 19 (UP)—Three small boys who set out on a career of murder and almost killed a playmate will be taken to Louisville, Ky., today for examination by psychiatrists.

Authorities here were planning to ban the sale of comic books. The boys, 7, 8 and 9, admitted that they got their ideas about murder and torture from such publications. They had set out on a definite program of torture and murder one kid every third Sunday.

Their first victim was a seven-year-old minister's son. Last Sunday they forced him into a woodlot near here at knifepoint, forced him to undress, and tied him to a tree.

As he dangled with his toes barely touching the ground, the boys danced and whooped about him, touching lighted matches to sensitive parts of his body such as the navel and armpits.

County Prosecutor Eugene Hancock said the boy would have choked to death except that his tormentors tied a granny knot instead of a slip knot and lacked the strength to pull him off his feet.

The boys were frightened away when they heard someone approaching. A search party found the minister's son after he freed himself. He had not been hurt seriously.

When the boys were taken into custody, they revealed that they had already chosen their next vic-

'Preventive' War Serious Mistake Says Fulbright

Fayetteville, Aug. 19 — (AP)—Senator Fulbright thinks a "preventive war now would be a serious mistake."

Speaking extemporaneously to the Arkansas Insurance seminar here yesterday, he gave as his reason the fact that "communism thrives on war and destruction."

A Little Rock office in the federal building is being readied for use of Fulbright, beginning next week. The senator will leave for Europe about Sept. 1 as a member of the executive committee of the inter-parliamentary union.

lim, a little girl.

Hancock said the boys came from "good families" in Georgetown, a New Albany suburb, and were the sons of a doctor, a school teacher and a businessman. He said their parents were "shocked."

The boys were released to their parents until final disposition of their case. The Indiana criminal law makes no provision for law-breakers their age.

"We're not sure just what we can do if the Louisville psychiatrist finds the boys are too dangerous to permit on the streets," Hancock said.

He said that Georgetown residents were "pretty worked up" over the case and were demanding that comic books be banned.

As a result, he said, County Probation Officer Frank Kelley was sent to Indianapolis to confer with authorities who recently banned a number of "dangerous" comic books.

Two Arkansans Entered in Golf Match

New York, Aug. 19 (AP)—Robert (Skeet) Riegel, who opens defense of his National Amateur golf championship at Memphis Aug. 30, now has his work cut out for him—and it looks rugged.

The 33-year-old ironmaster from Upper Darby, Pa., will face eight past U. S. and British champions and 201 survivors of the largest list ever to enter the venerable tourney—1221 golfers.

The field was decided in sectional qualifying trials yesterday from coast-to-coast, paced by a pair of golfers hardly known outside their own sections—William Roden of Odessa, Tex., and Julius Boros of Bridgeport, Conn. Roden ripped six strokes from par as he registered 70-68-138 at San Angelo, Tex. Boros fashioned a nice 66-69-135, five under regulation at Great Neck, N. Y.

Other qualifiers:
Memphis (11 places, par 70)—Richard Smart, Pine Bluff, Ark., 71-69-139; H. P. Childress, Memphis, 72-69-140; Gene Williams, Tuscaloosa, Ala., 72-72-144; John Buzick, Jonesboro, Ark., 73-73-146; Jimmy Wittenberg, Memphis, 72-74-146; Ham Carothers, Greenville, Miss., 75-71-146; Billy Barrell, Memphis 73-73-146; Walter large serving of greens from your garden each day, says Lorraine Blackwood, Home Demonstration Agent. If you have to buy greens, you will find they are a good buy in almost any market. A pound of greens will serve about three persons, she explains.

Greens from the mustard family—kale, turnip tops and mustard—have more calcium and vitamin C than those from the goosefoot family. These are Swiss chard, spinach and beet greens.

Turnip greens are one of the best of the green family. They are low in cost, easily prepared, and available the year around in some sections. Turnip greens furnish an excellent source of iron, calcium, riboflavin, and vitamin A, the home demonstration agent points out. They are very high in vitamin C when properly prepared.

Spinach is best cooked with just a little water. The water that clings to the leaves after the spinach is washed is all that is needed. Be careful not to overcook spinach, she advises. Five to ten minutes should be enough. Kale takes a little longer because the leaves are tougher.
